Avongara Maha Gany — Evaluations

AKC Approved Basenji Judge -- Dr. Ronald Spritzer on October 26, 2011

Gany has excellent bite & teeth.

Nice topline and is a basenji.

Coloring is poor & tail not curled enough.

However should be bred to encoperate into the basenji lines to get a bigger gene pool.

Rating 3 Good

AKC Approved Basenji-Breeder Judge -- Marianne Klinkowski on September 24, 2011

This sturdy sable dog with exceptionally level topline is nicely angulated front & rear. He move out with a ground covering stride and possesses a sweet, happy temperament. He has a lovely head with small, high set ears and an almond shaped hazel eye. His chest falls to his elbow and he has nice fill in front; his shoulder is well set with a long upper arm. He is off-square and his tail curls up and over his back. He has a very sweet yodel and his behavior is very typical of the breed. I was able to observe his offspring out of an Avongara bitch and was very impressed with their type and temperament. I believe that Gany is a basenji and has much to offer the breed.

Rating 3+ Good

Long-Time Breeder -- Carol Webb on September 24, 2011

Rather large, nice rear, moves a little close in rear, nice front, no curl to tail, bite good, nice bone for size, good topline, sable coloring is distracting but natural in Africa to my knowledge.

This dog has produced offspring of correct color and type bred to another Avongara bitch. This all leads me to believe he is a basenji. Light eyes but good pigmentation.

Rating 3.5 Good +
