AKC Approved Basenji Judge – Lesley Hiltz  12-11-2010

This is a one year old male, of slightly heavier bone and more body length than is desired. He is an effortless mover, when viewed from the side. He is very close in the rear and has a tendency to converge, in front, a little more than one would expect, when moving at a moderate pace. He holds his topline firm when moving, but is high in the rear. The tail is loosely curled, carried to the side and is fairly high set. There are a few white hairs on the tail tip. The coat is coarser and longer than desirable, but the skin is pliant.

He has a scissors bite, with perfect occlusion. The eyes are fairly dark and obliquely set. The ears are a little longer than desired; they are slightly hooded but need to be set a little further forward on the head. He has some wrinkle when alerted. The head is a little coarser than desired and also has a little more stop. The muzzle is shorter than the skull.

This dog has good shoulder angulation and has good length of rib. He is long in loin and is overall long in body, compared to height. I would like to see more shelf. The feet are oval and well padded.

Rating 3 Good

AKC Approved Basenji-Breeder Judge – Kathryn Britton  12-11-2010

Mosika is a proportioned male in both size and substance. He has a well-chiseled head piece with a nice amount of cushion. Muzzle/skull proportions are acceptable. Eyes are a nice dark brown with a good amount of mascara. They are a little round in shape. Ears are well-hooded and set well on head. He carries them a little low, except when alert, they are high on the head with nice wrinkling. Nose is black and teeth are a scissor’s bite. Neck is of good length and well-crested and set well into the shoulders. Could taper off a bit more, but adequate. Topline is very solid and level. A tad long in loin, but in proportion to body size/substance. Tail is high set and well-curved – goes to either side of back. Coat is longer than preferred, but a nice rich red. Mosika moves a little close in the rear, but does not cross over. His front is strong and solid and converges nicely as he moves. He has more reach than drive, but his shoulder angulation allows for this movement. He moves with a nice level topline. His temperament is outstanding. He is exceptionally friendly and outgoing to strangers.

His shoulders are nicely angulated with a good length of forearm. He has a nice bend of stifle and strong hocks. He has an adequate amount of shelf.

Overall Mosika is a nice specimen of the breed and could be a great asset!
