THE COVER STORY

Shown on the cover are two outstanding young puppies sired by Betsy and Ross Newmann's CH. FERUZI OF THE ZANDE who was top winning Basenji in the United States in 1964.

BETSY ROSS' TOP KICK OF SHAJO (Topper), owned by Betsy and Ross Newmann of Betsy Ross Kennels, 14801 River Road, Potomac, Maryland 20854, shown taking Best of Winners under Percy Roberts for a 5 point major at the 1966 BCOA Eastern Specialty at Westchester, New York. "Topper" who is owner handled by Ross Newmann is one of the outstanding young males in the country. He went Best of Winners for a 4 point major under J. J. Duncan at the Virginia Kennel Club on October 1, 1966, and took his third major under Percy Roberts at Philadelphia on December 10, 1966. He now has three majors and 13 points and hopes to complete his championship in February at the Westminster Kennel Club show at Madison Square Garden.

Also on the cover is "Topper's" litter sister, SHAJO'S LUCHIA winning a 4 point major from the puppy class at Corpus Christi, Texas, under Judge R. Gilliland on September 4, 1966. "Luchia" is owned by Shane and Betty Jo York, Shajo Kennels, 1913 Winthrop Street, Irving, Texas 75060, and owned handled by Shane York. Shajo Kennels is the home of SHAJO'S MARIYA, dam of "Topper" and "Luchia." SHAJO'S MARIYA is a beautiful bitch who has recently been bred to BETSY ROSS' JOHN REBEL, another outstanding young son of FERUZI.

... Something that may interest your readers, especially any who are sceptical about the warning ability of our Basenjis.

Mrs. Gamble of Toronto was telling me that her BLACK M'BUTI OF THE CONGO jumped on her bed one night and proceeded to pound on her chest until she got up to see what was upsetting her. Mrs. Gamble found that the fire in the living room, that she thought she had let die sufficiently, was throwing sparks onto the carpet and could easily have started a fire.

"BUTI," by the way, enjoys singing when her mistress plays the piano, and if a note is missed, she will sit quietly by until the music continues as it should.

Another hero is an English gentleman, ENG. CH. FULAFRIEND OF THE CONGO. FRIEND has been staying with us while getting his Canadian championship. Last night I opened the side door to let him out - he jumped onto the patio and stopped dead with one paw in the air. His hair began to bristle as he stared into the darkness of our back garden which is flanked by a huge field. I was quite nervous because of his behavior and stared into the blackness too. All I could see was a large piece of white plastic or paper that had blown against the back fence and decided that FRIEND must have seen this flutter so dismissed the incident and went inside, leaving the door open for FRIEND to follow when ready. He came in a few minutes later, his hair on end, and growling menacingly. This really surprised me since in all the time FRIEND has been with us, I have never heard him utter an unkind sound. I locked the doors so that whatever had upset him would stay outside.

This morning, I found a man's footprints leading from the house to the back fence. This evening, I looked through the bedroom window with the lights off, and sure enough, a man was standing out in the field, a few feet from my garden. I kept checking for a time, and he had not left, so I called the police who came right away and caught our prowler.

If we had not been warned by FRIEND, there is no telling how many nights this man could have come, nor what it might have led to. No one can tell me a Basenji is not a good guard dog.

From Bruce and Lucile Fifer, Tucson, Arizona

Recently we attended our first dog show, and we were impressed. The Tucson unbenched show had 600 entries, and there were many top notch animals there.

We, of course, went primarily to see the Basenjis and we did see them, but were not impressed. We have only been in the Basenji world a short time, and we do not pretend to be judges or authorities of Basenjis. By the way, Judge Brown of California did a sterling job of judging and picked the ones we would have picked as winners.

We went to see Basenjis, but instead thought we were looking at Italian Greyhounds - they seemed so slight, so wispy, so thin. Not at all what we'd expected as the top dogs. As I said, we're not experts, but we have studied the standard many times, and have studied all the pictures we could find and still contend: the Basenjis we saw were not the Basenjis of the Congo.

True, over the years, the breeders have endeavored to improve the breed, but I wonder? Is it being improved or torn down? For instance, we have a picture of PHEMISTER'S MAESTRO, published about twenty years ago and MAESTRO doesn't look anything like the Basenjis we saw. He's built! He looks as though he could do a full days hunting and be ready for more! Isn't this what the Basenji is? A hound? A hunter? Though he's to look "aristocratic" and "fine bones," can't he also look like he's built to endure that which he surely must, if he is a hunter?

To sum up: Breeders Beware! Let us not let our breed fall by the wayside as so many breeds have before - let us keep the breed strong and healthy, full of vigor as they were meant to be. Their Congo ancestors would yodel some of their descendants out of the ring if they could see them today.

... Each time I receive the new copy of The Basenji, I am very glad and enjoy it very much. It is so interesting to read articles about our Basenjis in your country and to look at the charming pictures which you publish.

We keep our Basenji bitch as a pet after I showed her in 3 exhibitions. She was the center of attraction in Hamburg and Hanover, and did very well. Born in England, she is the granddaughter of FULA OF THE CONGO, and really a lovely

by our British Correspondent, Ernest Goodman

Whenever dog-folk meet, the talk is bound to come around, sooner or later, to the virtues and weaknesses of judges. It occurred to me that it would be useful to try to list what most exhibitors would consider to be the attributes of a good judge. It also struck me that although judges are examined in print fairly frequently, we rarely experience the reverse process, that is, judges publicly analyzing exhibitors; so I propose, in another article, to do just that.

Here then, are some of the things which I look for in a judge - for the sake of convenience, I will use the masculine gender throughout:

1. This is a personal statement, based on experience in Great Britain only, but judging from letters which I have received from readers, I am sure it is a burning issue in the United States too, and I would be most interested in your comments. I don't think any intelligent, experienced exhibitor expects a judge to think exactly as he does - this is a fault of the disgruntled or inexperienced. It is expected by the fair-minded, that within reasonable limits, there is room for differing views.

2. A judge should know his job - this means not only a sound and thorough knowledge of canine anatomy, but also have the ability to recognise breed type and to give it its due importance in his assessments.

3. A judge should be scrupulously honest, not only morally, in the sense of not putting up inferior dogs deliberately for personal gain or advancement, but also intellectually honest in that he should not develop the capacity to persuade himself that when he is being influenced by the wrong motives, he is acting objectively.

4. He must have courage - the courage to put up the best dog irrespective of handler, owner, or any previous record.

5. He should be of independent mind - uninfluenced by awards made by other judges, however eminent.

6. He should know how to handle a Basenji - this means, in particular, not over-handling. I have often seen judges making a prolonged series of mysterious passes which could not possibly tell them much more than they could see, but could serve to unsettle the dog.

7. A judge should be decisive - nothing is more frustrating to exhibitors than the judge who, after spending more than adequate time on summing and handling, is still undecided and further disappoints by rearranging his placings several times.

8. He should not use the ring for a display of showmanship. He is there to do a quietly efficient job, not to catch the eye of television talent scouts.

9. He should be understanding and courteous. Many exhibitors have travelled long distances and spent hard-earned money to show their dogs. This is a complement to the judge and should be rewarded by scrupulous courtesy and good manners. The ring is no place for the display of a judge's powers of intimidation or sarcasm. I have known lady exhibitors almost in tears because of the brusque and arrogant manner of the judge. This is boorish and quite inexcusable.

10. A judge should not be a faddist. Whatever the degree of his dislike of such things as light eyes, or large ears, he must make the effort to assess a dog as a whole, and make his placings accordingly.

Continue sending names and addresses of those who are interested in Basenjis and a free sample copy of THE BASENJI will be mailed.

bitch. It would be lots of fun to turn her loose in the fields, and she goes hunting for her own amusement! That is too dangerous on account of the hunters and the traffic. She can be very obedient if we show her a wee bit of chocolate or cooky. She will do everything for it. The first year she tore everything to pieces but now she is lots better.

Isn't it strange that when she is in season, no other dog in town will pay her any attention. There are many characteristics which we do not have with domestic dogs - it would be very nice to hear from other Basenji owners on what they can report on this matter.

My bitch RIVIANA BLACK PERLE holds her dish with her paws when it slips and gets empty. She follows everything that moves: horses; trucks; trains, if possible, and of course birds, fowl, rabbits, etc. She also buries her digestion with her nose in loose gravel!

In closing, my meaning is, we should not force this breed to complete obedience training! Their great attraction is their behavior to follow their nature of a "wild dog" breed - we have enough trained common dogs! The Basenji's sense of absolute cleanliness is wonderful. Our "Black Perle" never soils a room! And they are tropical dogs and hate the cold, it is cruel to keep them in unheated kennels. My bitch stands on a chair and leans herself over the radiator as soon as she comes from a good long walk every morning. I did not mention her funny appetite. She loves (besides her full dish of meat and rice) Brussel sprouts, cabbage, raw and cooked, cauliflower, and sauerkraut!

I read that there were found, in the graves of the Cheops - Pyramids chiselled images of the Basenjis, 2520 B.C. and 3600 B.C., a relief was found which shows a Basenji under the chair of his master, and his name was Xalmus.

... Excuse my many faults in this letter, and good bye for today - I am looking forward to the December issue.

From Ragna Spears, San Antonio, Texas

The Christmas issue is great . . . I enjoy the advertisements and the pictures more or as much as anything.

BASENJI CLUB OF AMERICA MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Lost Lake, Paradise, Michigan 49768

The BCOA membership drive was previously announced to end December 15, 1966. However, some difficulties were encountered in obtaining and distributing sufficient membership application blanks. These blanks are now available, and the drive has been extended to January 15, 1967.

For those of you Basenji owners who are not already members of our Club, the following resume of our purposes, aims, and activities may be of interest:

The American Kennel Club is the organization responsible for maintaining the Stud Book, and registering purebred dogs in the United States; for sanctioning and maintaining records on shows and trials leading to conformation championships and obedience titles; for licensing show judges and handlers; for registering kennels; and many other similar services. This organization is made up, not of individual members, but of member breed clubs. The Basenji Club of America is the only organization that represents Basenjis to the A. K. C.

The B. C. O. A. was formed in 1942 by a small group of dedicated Basenji owners. They wrote the original American Standard of the Breed, and furnished pedigree records which were accepted by the A. K. C. in 1943, making it possible henceforth for Basenjis to be registered in the United States.

In order to carry on its important work, the B. C. O. A. needs the support of all Basenji owners. This support can best be given by membership in the Club and participation in its activities.

These activities, all of which are of benefit to you as a Basenji owner, include:

(1) Representation at all business sessions of the American Kennel Club, in the formulation of policies and procedures pertaining to the A. K. C.'s activities as listed above.

(2) The publication of a Club Bulletin. This publication is of vital interest to all Basenji owners, since it contains information on, and results of shows; articles and comments on history, feeding, care, training, showing, breeding, hunting, and other information peculiar to the breed, news of Club members; and other information on Club activities, including reports of Club meetings - it even tells you who, on the Board, voted for what, so that you can decide which officers are best representing you.

(3) Maintaining the Standard of the Breed in a current status. This is a most important function since changes in breed characteristics can come about as a result of breeding programs, good or bad, and possibly through environment.

Some of these changes may be good, but generally any change from the original Standard is frowned upon. However, when changes come about which have the approval of the majority of of the Club membership, the Club may recommend a change in the Standard to the A. K. C. - and the only way you can have a voice in this is to be a member of the B. C. O. A.

(4) Maintaining records on the breed. Much valuable information on history, pedigrees, etc., which could not be gained otherwise, is available to Basenji Club members.

(5) Arranging for and supervising annual regional specialty shows. These shows are held each year - Western, Midwestern, and Eastern. A great deal of preparation goes into each of these specialties and this is where you see the top specimens of the breed. A win, even of a class at these shows, indicates that this dog is one of the best, and is a great thrill for the breeder. The prestige so gained is of great value.

(6) Maintenance and publication of a list of all members. This is a ready-made mailing list of potential customers and friends. Some people carry the list with them on trips so they can visit other Basenji owners.

These and many other advantages of membership in the Basenji Club of America can be yours for an annual membership fee of $6.00. Junior memberships, partnerships, and family memberships are also available.

We hope that you will decide to join the B. C. O. A. If so, please contact the Membership Drive Committeeman nearest you. Their names and addresses are listed below. They can provide you with a membership application form and other information pertaining to our Club.

Well, no mail means not much of an article again this month. I know there's some shows going on somewhere - let's put those wins in our column and not elsewhere in the magazine.

You guys 'n gals write me a short theme about your Basenji - something he or she has done. I will put one in our column every month until I use them all. It will be entertainment for us all. Don't wait for someone else to write, you be the first one.

Is there anything going on in your area concerning leash laws? If so, let me know. There's nothing going on here and I've heard but little about it. Well, this is Archie signing off.

EARLY TREATMENT OF NEPHRITIS MAY SAVE A LIFE

by the Florida Veterinarians

In the last decade medical science has extended man's life expectancy by approximately eight per cent. The life expectancy of pets has undergone an even greater change on a relative basis. Not only does the animal live longer, but he is a much younger animal at 10 today than he was 20 years ago.

As man's life span was extended, his disease problems have also undergone change. Where once he died of smallpox, flu, and TB, more people today die of heart disease or cancer. The plagues that once swept Europe have become a thing of the past, and all is due to the great advancements medicine has made. There has also been significant changes in the diseases that affect animals. The incidence of rabies in dogs is on the decrease, due to vaccination of the canine population and public awareness of the importance of this disease. Proper care with respect to housing and nutrition has also contributed to the longevity and well-being of our pets of today. However, with all of our advancements in new methods, drugs and professional ability, there still remain some conditions and diseases that are a threat to our pets. Chronic nephritis is such a condition.

COMMON KILLER OF AGED PET

One of the common killers of the aged pet today is chronic interstitial nephritis (CIN). It has been estimated that approximately eighty per cent of all dogs over eight years of age have some degree of CIN. This disease usually is due to a series of problems, often a progressive type, over a period of years. Damage to the kidneys may occur when the dog is young and suffers from such diseases as leptospirosis or distemper. Some kidney tissue is damaged or destroyed at this time, but due to the large reserve supply of kidney tissue available to care for the functions of the animal, there are usually no symptoms. The first indication of trouble may come from a disease such as pyorrhea (infection around the teeth) that is common in older animals. Actually, each time your pet is ill there is danger that some of his normal kidney tissue may be destroyed. Fortunately, if he is normal at birth, he has enough reserve tissue to compensate. When an animal's kidneys are healthy only a small portion is functioning at one time. Because of the large reserve of kidney tissue there are rarely any symptoms of this disease until a large portion of the kidneys is destroyed. Even at this stage, however, an animal may still have several good years if the disease is recognized and proper measures taken.

CARDINAL SYMPTOMS OF NEPHRITIS

The cardinal symptoms of chronic nephritis are increased thirst and frequent urination. Nocturia (wetting at night with no control over the act) is often a problem. As the symptoms progress over a varying length of time, the animal may develop uremia, due to the inefficiency of the filtering ability of the kidneys. At this time a commonly observed symptom is severe vomiting usually bile or yellow in color. If left without treatment at this state, dehydration, severe lethargy and diarrhea rapidly follow and the prognosis is usually grave. However, even at this late stage, there are a few animals that will respond to treatment.

Detection and early knowledge of the condition are the important aspects of nephritis. If the owner is aware of the problem, very often the stress or otherwise insignificant small infection may be taken care of before any damage is done. Many animals with signs and symptoms of nephritis live many years without problems if the owner is appraised of the condition and measures are taken to prevent an acute attack.

WAGGING TALES FROM NEW YORK

HAZEL ULM

I can recall as a child, my mother upon being told by someone that doing so and so was "easy," her stock answer was, "everything is easy when you know how."

And so it is for many of us who have delivered many litters, it has become "old stuff" to us. But not any of us know so much that we can't learn more. The most important thing is to be prepared.

I'm not going to dwell on the whelping, since this can be found in just about any dog magazine or breed book. A very good article on whelping can be found in "Basenjis The Barkless Dogs" by Veronica Tudor-Williams. I would like to dwell with other problems that may or may not occur, but would be advantageous to know about - could, in fact, save your puppy's life.

Usually, a bitch in whelp will eat like a "pig," but occasionally, for no known reason, will go off her feed. One or two days of this is no reason for concern, but some bitches will carry this "no eating" habit for weeks. They will turn their nose up at the most tempting morsels, even steak, but I have found most of them will gladly accept a dish of oatmeal, prepared as for yourself, with milk and honey - never give a dog sugar. They will also eat milk bone biscuits by the handful, but often, like a spoiled child, only if you hand them one at a time, but it is worth catering to the mother-to-be.

Your litter has been whelped. Have you accounted for each and every placenta? If you have not, or if you think there may be another puppy yet unborn, and enough time has elapsed since the last one, then it is time to take the dam to your veterinarian for a shot of pituitrin. This will cause the uterus to contract and force out any left over placentas or offspring. We have our veterinarian give it as a safety measure, to clean the dam completely. Her puppies can be kept quiet and happy by placing a heating pad, covered with a towel in a box.

Your next step is the removal of the puppies' dewclaws. This is the extra toe that appears on the inside of the front legs. Show or pet, these must be removed if you are to avoid the problems they can cause in later life. This is best done at around three days of age. If you wait too long, bone has formed and then it is major surgery and the puppy will have to be anesthetized. This is not necessary with two or even five day old pups. Within one half hour after all dewclaws are removed, the puppies are back nursing. We've had puppies fall asleep as we changed their position getting to the other dewclaw.

The next step in the life of your puppy, are his distemper vaccinations. It's a good idea to revaccinate the dam about the time she is bred. It seems that most veterinarians have different ideas of when the puppies should start their temporary shots. We like to give our own, however, I would not recommend this unless one is experienced. Some vets will sell you the MLV (modified live virus) and show you how to administer it. It is very important that the MLV is fresh, and that the needles are sterilized. We like to do this at home as there is always danger of bringing home diseases whenever the pups are taken to the veterinarian as all manner of sick dogs are there. The temporary shots are only good from ten to fourteen days. Most veterinarians recommend these every two weeks until the puppy is old enough for his permanent shots - usually from three to four months old.

"BITS AND PIECES"

I owe a printed apology to Agness Wood and Irma Pelant from the Washington-Alexandria area for omitting their names from the discussions about organizing a Basenji Club for Greater Washington, D. C. Apparently they had been discussing that subject before I even knew what a Basenji was.

Betty Motes wrote to Al Braun and received a very nice reply, full of suggestions and ideas. Al has helped a number of groups organize a club.

All members of the BCOA owe a hearty thanks to Clara Bradley and her committee for spending nine and one half hours of a beautiful Sunday counting, and recounting on the recounts of the BCOA primary election.

In the Washington, D. C. Evening Star, Friday, the 4th of November, buried in the sports pages, was a picture of Cleveland Williams (who was at that time soon to fight Cassius Clay) holding a tri Basenji. The caption under the picture was, "Big Cat spars with little dog." The dog was identified as living on the ranch of Williams' manager, Hugh Benbow, near Yoakum, Texas. It seems to me that Beagles, Afghans, Basets, Poodles, Welsh Terriers, Doberman Pincers, and most other breeds are named as such, when pictured. Only the German Shepherd Dog and the Basenji are denied this courtesy. The German Shepherd is usually mistakenly called a "Police Dog" and the poor Basenji remains forever nameless!! Seems to me, we Basenjites had better engage a public relations firm. I am getting tired of having acquaintances say, "You've got to be kidding!" when they see our dogs and when we tell them about the Basenji's more striking characteristics!

Our handsome bachelor, Tommy Ball, now has six beautiful females who are utterly devoted and dependent on him - mommy "PENNY" and five tiny bitches, two tri-colors like daddy ACQUIA'S JACK OF SLEEPY HOLLOW, and three red and whites like PENNY. In case you have forgotten, that breeding is the one with a story behind it.

Tragedy struck PENNY one week after the birth of the puppies. She continued to hemorrhage, and her veterinarian in order to save her life, had to spay her. However, the litter and PENNY are now doing beautifully. Tommy has already named one of his girls -- GERONIMO??? There must be a story behind that one somewhere! (continued on page 14)

ALOHA FROM HAWAII

by Dorothy Gowens

It has been exciting around here the past weeks. At the risk of making a fool of myself, I profess complete puzzlement at the following: Robert Kodama's PRIDE OF THE CONGO, red and white (Firelight of the Congo x Painted Lady of the Congo) has sired at least 30 pups that I know of, both from red and white, and tricolor bitches. Not one of these pups was tri-color. I therefore felt sure PRIDE did not carry the tricolor gene and could not transmit it.

A son of his, ALII OF POLYNESIA, red and white, was whelped by Frank Angell's tricolor bitch. ALII was mated to Buzzy Trent's tricolor. When the Trents called to tell me that five pups had been born of this mating, three of them tris, Frank and I set out for Makaha, 44 miles away, the next day. I just couldn't believe there were tris. There is no question that the litter is purebred, and there is no question that ALII is the sire.

From Virginia Wille's articles on brindling in the early issues of The Basenji, I got the name of her main reference book. I couldn't find the book either in the book stores or the library. I wrote Mrs. Wille (she had had trouble locating the book also), and she very kindly airmailed me her notes. With the turmoil in the house of late, I have not been able to settle down and read them to see if my curiosity about these tri pups can be satisfied. Needless to say, we are delighted the tris appeared, whatever the genetic explanation, as they offer a new source of breeding over here.

Frank Angell and I took the "pick of the litter" from Violet Trent's four week old pups. (The dam was too young and refused to nurse them from the start). We are utterly delighted with little "CHISPA" who is sleeping soundly out in the dog bin at present.

The Philip Browns of Kailua, are pleased to get a red and white female from the Trent litter. I had previously given them a copy of the excellent handbook by Marie L. Steele, and they wisely have a crate for their newcomer. I think this will save all sorts of grief in raising such a young pup, although Mrs. Brown reports that for two nights the pup has gotten her (continued on page 14)

THE BASENJI CLUB OF DALLAS

"DALLAS TWIST"

by Jo York

Well, Christmas will be over and we will all be sitting around waiting for our January litter by the time this is read. Our Dallas Club will have a Christmas party at our home on December 17, which I hope will be enjoyed by all. The theme for the party will be a "Spanish Christmas." This does not have much to do with Basenjies, but it will be different.

I do not know if many Basenjites in the U.S. watched "Dr. Leaky and the Dawn of Man" on the T. V. early in November. Many of us here in Dallas did. Dr. Leaky discovered the oldest known human type being upon this earth at Olduvai Canyon in Kenya, Africa. Dr. Leaky is also an authority on dogs, so Shane wrote him, asking if he had found any remains of the Basenji in Olduvai. Dr. Leaky answered and said there was no evidence of any domesticated dogs of any kind. He also stated that very little work had been done on the origin of the Basenji, but that it was possible that a domestic dog might turn up from the early Iron Age sites in that continent. He also suggested that we write to Dr. Summers, National Museum, Bulawayo, Rhodesia - that he might be able to give us some information on the origin of the Basenji in Africa. We are now waiting for an answer from Dr. Summers. When he sends it, we will make a full report for this column next month.

When nephritis is suspected, seek professional help. A urine sample is usually all that is necessary to detect the condition. Advice in the early stages can often prolong an animal's life and prevent the unnecessary early death of many of our companion pets.

Basenji Club of Arkansas

by Dorothy Wooten

It was an exciting two days for Basenjites in Arkansas on November 12th and 13th. ACE OF UBANGI, puppy dog, owned by the Bob Wootens, got his first points at the Fort Smith show. His litter sister RINGOLA'S GOLDEN KINJA placed first in the puppy class. The next day at North Little Rock, ACE won two more points and KINJA went Best of Opposite Sex for two points.

We wish to thank everyone who came and helped to make our "Hospitality Room" a success. We were very pleased with the interest shown by breeders and exhibitors from other states who had entries at these two shows. We hope that our spring show, held in March, will be an even bigger success.

We also want everyone to know we are growing! New members, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Crowley and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Tompkins - WELCOME to the BASENJI CLUB OF ARKANSAS.

California Crucible

by Lyla J. Yocum

New, enthusiastic, owner-exhibitors have brought a breath of freshness to the shows recently in California, and one of these happy couples is the Kent Kloeppings with their AFRICANA'S SASSY LASS, who recently took a 3 point major, and Best of Opposite Sex in Stockton, California, to get her career off to a big bang. "Sassy Lass" was adeptly shown by agile friend, and Basenji enthusiast, Betty Merck.

The Hollenbecks of Palo Alto, also new Basenjites, are happily showing the fruits of their first breeding, and doing sensationally well. Just recently, at the San Mateo show, their striking young male HOLLYLIN'S CAPTAIN HOOK rocketed all the way to Best of Breed from the classes under the able guidance of friend, Ron Merck.

Recent California newcomer, Lois Cooper, formerly of Alaska, has been enjoying the luxury of numerous local shows, and avidly exhibiting her typey young female DINGBAT.

A few words of advice to Jim Henderson of Jamar Basenjies - install a seat belt on your machine. Jim recently took a spill off his motorcycle, and banged up his showing shoulder. Now that Jim has his handler's license, he will have to be more careful.

Carol Webb of Kazor Basenjies is an inspiration to all of us non pro handlers as she has been consistently recording very nice wins with her dogs against some very tough competition.

The Logans of Garden Grove, have been doing some very nice winning with their gorgeous red and white male CH. TANDA'S CHRISTMAS SYMBOL, and his litter sister CH. TANDA'S CHRISTMAS HOLLY. My heartiest encouragement to them to keep up their fine record.

Recent visitors, checking out the local Basenjites, were Mr. and Mrs. Ferre of Salt Lake City, Utah, with their eye appealing, red and white female Basenji along as expert traveling companion.

Congratulations to Jack Shafer and Bob Mankey who enjoy the winningest ways with their attractive Basenjies, and we hope to see all of you at the shows in 1967.

We wish all Basenjites everywhere, a very Happy New Year and may all your fall puppies be strong and healthy and hope they all become champions in 1967.

Local And Regional Basenji Clubs

by A. L. Braun, Vice-President, B. C. O. A.
Lost Lake, Paradise, Michigan 49768

On September 22nd of this year, I was designated liaison between the Basenji Club of America and local or regional Basenji clubs. Since that time, I have been in contact with twelve different groups which are active or just starting. Some of them are primarily social, but most are interested in holding fun and sanctioned matches, and possibly point shows eventually. A.K.C. sanction is required for the latter. Such sanction would almost certainly require the previous recognition of B. C. O. A., the parent club for the breed.

To obtain B.C.O.A. recognition, approval of the Board is required. In order to assist local and regional clubs desirous of obtaining B.C.O.A. Board approval and Club recognition, I have devised a standardized procedure and list of documents required. Upon receipt of these documents - most important of which are the By-Laws, membership and officers lists, and a resolution recognizing the Basenji Club of America as parent club. I will forward copies to each Board Member for their information, and prepare a ballot for their vote. If the Board vote is affirmative, the B.C.O.A. delegate to the American Kennel Club will be provided with copies of the pertinent documents and instructed to request A.K.C. sanction of the new club.

Anyone interested in B.C.O.A. recognition and A.K.C. sanction of a local or regional Basenji Club may write to me. I can provide them with a sample Constitution and By-Laws, A.K.C. rules and regulations, and other material which may be helpful.

Aunt Mary's Pet Talk

by Mary Motley, 421 Lake Shore Drive, Daytona Beach, Florida

"Never make a pet of a hunting dog" or "never make a pet of a show dog" is a fallacy. We still hear this old saying even though it has been disproved often.

Without affection, trust and confidence between dog and man, there can be no real understanding. Without understanding what kind of team can they be?

I don't mean the dog should be pampered, but he deserves attention and affection, as does every dog.

In addition to caring for such essentials as proper food, fresh water, adequate shelter and sanitation, every dog owner should spend some time every day with his dog. This is even more important if the dog isn't a house dog and part of the family routine. Outside dogs and kenneled dogs especially need this period of play, talk, and "togetherness" with their owners, but it benefits all dogs.

A lively romp in a safe open area is ideal. If this isn't possible, a walk on a lead is good. These periods together are an excellent time for training, or you may prefer to use the time for grooming and attention to the dog's coat, skin, eyes, ears, toenails, teeth, etc. However you spend this daily time, give the animal your complete attention. This is his time. Talk to him. Let him fully enjoy his time with you — it will become the highpoint of his day.

Ear care is especially important to dogs with ears in which air can't circulate freely. The ears of a dog are extremely sensitive. Care must be taken not to irritate them. They must never be washed with soap and water. When the ears need cleaning, swab them out with cotton and a little baby oil. Be gentle, and don't probe. Clean only as deeply as you can see. If your dog develops an ear infection, see your vet.

The earlier an ear ailment is treated, the better. If neglected, it can easily become chronic.

Because their ears are so sensitive and give them so much pain when infected, even a very gentle dog may snap if his sore ears are molested in any way.

Eye care is usually more preventive maintenance than actual treatment. If your dog romps in high growth, tiny weed seeds and other foreign matter get in his eyes and should be washed out with boric acid solution. A cotton swab can be soaked in the solution, squeezed over the eye, and the gentle flow will rinse the eye.

Tooth care usually is not difficult. Dogs that are permitted large bones to gnaw generally keep their own teeth fairly clean. (Give only large bones that can't be broken up into pieces and swallowed. Knuckle bones are excellent, as are marrow bones, which contain much nourishment. The teeth should be checked frequently and cleaned if necessary. When your dog is at the vet's for a checkup, ask the vet to also look at his teeth. When your dog has foul breath, teeth are sometimes the cause.

Foot care can save a dog much pain. The feet should be examined daily — after his run or exercise period, preferably. If the pads have any cuts, they should be treated at once. If the nails are kept trimmed, there's little danger of trouble from a broken one. A broken nail can cause severe pain and should be treated promptly. It may be necessary to remove it.

Never use kerosene to remove tar, gum or anything else from the pads and coat of a dog. Ether is safe, and so are small amounts of nail polisher remover. Kerosene burns the skin.

For warm weather, this review of general care is given because that's when grooming and special attention to health is most important. We can't cover everything, but we strongly urge a never ending war against fleas. Fight them

ARCTIC CAPERS

"THE NUMBERS GAME"

by Sam McKee

This is how the game is played. First, you make a 3 x 5 card for each American champion and obedience-titled Basenji, showing the name of the dog and also the name of his sire and dam.

Second, you sort the cards into alphabetical order by the names of the studs. Then you make another 3 x 5 card for each stud, listing on the back side the names of his pups which have finished their championships.

Third, you sort the first set of cards into alphabetical order by the names of the dams. Make still another set of 3 x 5 cards, one for each dam, and list on the back side of these the names of her pups which have finished.

Fourth, you sort the first set of cards into alphabetical order by the names of the dogs that have finished, separating the champions from the obedience-titled dogs. At this point you have four sets of cards.

All you have to do now is keep your list up to date. When you get mail, you recheck your records. Of course, I owe a large debt to the work done by the late George Gilkey in compiling the list of champions published in the BCOA Bulletin several years ago. And to Norm Wallace who got me interested in the numbers game and furnished me with stud books going back to the first AKC registered Basenjis and also did a lot of the research into pedigrees.

Others, too numerous to mention, have assisted with the work at one time or other. I would like to add that Bettie's patience has been sorely tried as I whiled the hours away playing with cards, etc.

If you'd like to challenge the correctness of the list (and I certainly make no claim to infallibility), drop me a line about any dog you think I have credited with too few (or too many) champions. If there is a mistake, I'll be most happy to make the corrections as needed. (Please remember that I have not counted anything except American champions.) The list as published here is complete through the November 1966 issue of the AKC Gazette.

For what it's worth, here is the honor roll of brood bitches. You will note that I have included dams which have produced at least four American champions. I chose this cut-off point in order to have approximately as many bitches listed as there were studs on the list published in October 1966. For your information, the rest of the dams break down this way: 47 with 3 each; 84 with 2 each; and 229 with 1 each.

The accompanying list also points out some interesting relationships. Thus, CH. GLENARLEY BLACK MUNIA (A) (j) is the dam of CH. TINAS COMA VENUS (a) and the daughter of WIDGEON OF THE CONGO (J) (K), with CH. GLENARLEY SONG BIRD (k) also being Widgeon's daughter. The "*" behind the names of CH. MY LOVE OF THE CONGO and CH. POPPET OF THE CONGO indicates that these two are full sisters, but their dam GOLD PIPPIN OF THE CONGO is not on the list.

constantly, indoors and out, by using a good flea powder inside and one of the many safe flea and tick killers outside. Don't wait until the poor dog or cat is alive with the pests. Stay ahead of them. Fleas cause disease, worms, and serious skin disorders. They can drag down the animal's general health and lower his resistance until he's susceptible to everything that comes along. They can make him anemic, weak, and sick. Besides all this, think how agonizing their presence must be! The vacuum cleaner removes fleas from furniture, rugs, etc., but doesn't kill them. They crawl out of the cleaner and go their nasty way. Here, at our house, we keep flea powder in the bag of the cleaner — it works — it kills the fleas.

The instructor was more severely injured than she was, but both are doing O. K. in the hospital. This happened last Friday, the 2nd of December.

One of Betty's bitches, SPARKLE (Faun x Minx) is expecting a litter any day now. Her husband and their doggy friends will look after the pups, but this sure spoils the fun for Betty, to say the least.

Thought maybe you'd want to mention this so Betty's friends and acquaintances could drop her a line. Her address is: 5644 Fairbanks, El Paso, Texas 79924.

From Mary Ellen Thompson,

Many years ago a member of my family, having viewed a certain movie, inspired the remaining members with a deep desire to own a Basenji. We searched for months, and eventually were able to acquire one in our own area. Back in those days they were not easily come by.

She was an adorable pup and we loved her dearly, and we still do. She grew, as they will, and soon we decided we wanted some puppies, not only for our own enjoyment, but also to see what she would produce. After some searching, a stud was found and the mating accomplished. She whelped a lovely litter of nice pet puppies which we readily placed. By this time, our initial interest had grown by leaps, and we wanted something better. We bred again, and this time encountered problems so compelling to our own common sense, with the advice of others, that we retired this adored pet and took up the search for a better animal from which to breed. One has no difficulty finding something better and we were no exception.

Our second bitch was much more refined, and we finished her championship, and then looked forward to the progeny with high hopes. Finally, the time arrived and she was shipped to the chosen stud and we counted the days until the arrival of the wee ones. They came! As nice a litter as one could hope to find. All went well. Every one of them was in good shape physically. We always give the expectant moms an extra good diet. Then they were old enough to open their eyes, and the little slits came and went as each eye peeped out. The eyes were not as they should have been-where the sparkling wit and spirit of the breed lies, in the eyes; there was instead, small clouds of white. If you have the imagination to follow

"DIXIE" finished her championship at nine months of age, with a neat 15 points. She is shown above, handled by Miss Damara Bolte, receiving a 4 pt. major under Mr. Robert A. Moseley at West Friendship, Maryland, on October 15, 1966. Her first major, a 5 pt. win was at Charlotte, N. C. on July 31, 1966 under Mr. Kenneth W. Given - where she was also BOS to her BOB father, CH. HENTY P'KENYA ADOMINO. She received a 2 pt. win at Devon, Pennsylvania, on October 8, 1966 and a 4 pt. major and BOS under Mr. Gordon Parham at Gaithersburg, Maryland, October 16, 1966.

The Maryland Kennel Club held its annual benched show in Baltimore on November 27, 1966. Judge Phil Marsh judged an entry of 24. 7 dogs were present of the 8 entered. First in puppy dog class was the Bradley's REVELLE RETALIATE; first in American bred dog was the Newmann's BETSY ROSS KINGOLA OF BERVIC, and first in open dog, winners dog, and best of winners was AKER'S KINGA, owned by Ede and Karin Quam. Reserve winners dog was Laura Bosley's SILVER FOX HYBOY OF DRUMPOINT. From the 11 bitches entered, Mr. Marsh chose Agness Wood's KONGO-WOOD RAFIKI as first in puppy class and winners bitch. First in novice bitch class was Jack Schaffer's GERNEY'S RAJUA OF THE CONGO; first in open and reserve winners bitch went to KIDIRI OF KONGOWOOD, bred and owned by Agness Wood. CH. AQUIA'S DIXIE BELL, owned by Doc and Clara Bradley was best of breed - her first time out as a special too. Best of opposite sex was Col. and Mrs. Hoffman's CH. REVELLE REBEL.

David Hill, the BCOA National Specialty Chairman - sans dogs again, came down from New York to observe the show. He and Betty Motes, also without a dog, are the two most dedicated dog show enthusiasts around. Betty did take her CH. BETJI'S TAMATAVE FASCINATION to the Tidewater Kennel Club show in Norfolk, Virginia on November 13th, and Judge Louis Murr picked her for best of breed, her first time out as a special, and in whelp yet! Shirley Chambers was also at the Baltimore show, but was so busy with her handling duties there was no time to "gad and gab" much. Priscilla Horney was back in the ring and looking as pretty as ever after her hospitalization. We all missed her at the Salisbury and Norfolk shows. Damara Bolte gave us the happy news that the BCOA Eastern Specialty winner, CH. REVELLE RUFFLES is the proud mother of five bitches and one dog. I have the feeling that this may be the year for bitches around here.

All of us from the Capitol area, wish all the rest of the Basenjites across the country a New Year full of purple and gold ribbons and hope that all your upholstery remains unchewed.

up four or five times with the sole purpose of "let's have fun and games."

Over in Waikiki, Gene Schaefer's tricolor bitch NOHEA brought forth five tri pups sired by our PIKO. Gene teaches at a beauty college, and when the sitter with NOHEA phoned that the pups were enroute, Gene and the principal of the school, Marje Williams, simply bolted out the door and raced to Waikiki. If I am not mistaken, Marje left some hapless female in mid-pincurl, if that's the word I want.

HAK TIM'S litter by KEIKI was due last Saturday, November 26th. She is, this date, November 29th, lying on the couch with the unborn pups rattling around like so many dice. A look at Tudor-Williams' "bible" says anything from a week early to a week late, but I do wish we could get on with the show. I heard tearing of papers in the hall closet this morning and PIKO was busy rooting around.

Frank remarked that he could be sick unto death in the hospital and there wouldn't be nearly the phone calls that HAK'S recalcitrance has produced. I am not sure Frank was pleased when I agreed with him.

In connection with Zoo Director Throp's visit to see the Basenjits yesterday, Mrs. Throp was telling me about the delightful antics of their pet mongoose. It is supremely inquisitive and makes off with any loose, light objects it can seize. More about the Throps next month. They are trying to recreate the ancient Poi dog.

what I have said and put yourself in my position, you will know the regret that plagued me. Yes, we took them to the veterinarian - he had not seen it before. He was an extremely kind, understanding man and did all in his power to help, but there was little that could be done. He estimated that the pup with most affliction was 90% without sight. The rest were progressively better. In all but one pup, the clouds could be seen with the naked eye. One was doing well to find the eye itself for the white areas.

I could not believe it would not clear up. We nearly lived at the vet's office. I ran tests at home to see if any improvement was being made. One pup, the one with the most coverage, was afraid to jump from any height unless he could reach the floor with his paw. This is not my idea of what a Basenji should be. Eventually, I found homes for them with the understanding they would simply be pets and never be allowed to reproduce. Please remember, I did not do this all on my own, but had asked advice from others who knew more than I.

I continued in my efforts to seek an answer to the perplexing problem of my puppies' eyes. No one had ever seen or heard of it before. Finally, a breeder viewed my problem with understanding, one who felt her animals might help me produce fine pups. I accepted this advice and bred the bitch again. Anyone can come up with a problem in a close breeding which the first one had been.

The bitch was bred, and again the pup's eyes were afflicted. Not so badly this time, but the white spots were there just the same. So where do I go from here? I know I will be cautious of the animals I breed in the future, and are given a thorough investigation. I write this in the hopes that perhaps one of you will be spared this heartbreak. I wish this could be ended with a happy note, but unfortunately, the only part that is related to a fairytale, is my desire that it all was one.

From JoAnn Weller, Arvada, Colorado

I just got the December Basenji today, and must admit I have already read it, though I didn't get to the laundry or the vacuuming, and almost didn't get the "ladies" taken for a good run at the gravel pit. Anyway, I am moved to reply to Sheila Smith's "Yodels from the Pacific Northwest," so maybe I'll get my Christmas letters out by July next year like I did this year for last Christmas.

You have no idea how many times since I have moved

BASENJI CLUB OF CANADA

Mrs. Margaret E. Robertson's MERLEA GOLD PIECE, a litter mate to my MERLEA EBONY MUKAKU, won Best Canadian Bred Puppy in Show at the Pacific National Exhibition, Vancouver, B. C., on September 7, 1966. The owners of the dog are Mr. and Mrs. Trask, Victoria, B. C.

This is apparently somewhat of a record in Canadian Basenji circles to have two dogs from the same litter - one a tricolor (MERLEA EBONY MUKAKU) and one a red and white (MERLEA GOLD PIECE) making identical wins on opposite sides of the nation.

An error in the report of Basenji Booster show in Scarborough Kennel Club show. A check of the reference catalogue shows a cross between Basenjits number 247 and 287 in reporting Winners Bitch and Best of Winners. Credit for these wins was given to CH. XALMES ANTONIA in my report and should have been given to MERLEA DANCING POLLYANNA owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. David Hodson, Petersburg, Ontario.

to Denver, I wished I were back in the Northwest for dog shows. Even when we went to Pullman, and had to be in the obedience ring at 9 A.M., I didn't have to tear home from work and drive all night to get there in time - with the exception of 8 shows within 177 miles of Denver - I do that now. It's 618 miles to Oklahoma City and there's an hour time change, and either obedience or conformation is always the first thing in the A.M. . . . We don't go to these unless there's two shows on a week end. So; you try to get a good night's sleep Saturday night, if you don't have to drive too far for the next day's show, and then you do your level best to avoid the boss on Monday, especially if you arrived in Denver at 6 A.M. and all you did was shower, drink more coffee and toddle to work. . .

If you'd just get rid of that rain and fog, I'd return to the ranch.

Please send us your change of address at least three weeks in advance of moving for continuous, uninterrupted delivery of THE BASENJI magazine. If you do not have your new address this soon, drop us a card to hold your copy and it will be mailed the day we are notified of your address. Thank you.

CURLY TALES FROM THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS

by Earl and Diane Laue

As the show season closes in this area for the year, I thought perhaps a few reflections on the summer and fall Basenji activities might be in order.

The highlight of the summer for many Basenjis and their owners was the all Basenji Novice Obedience Class initiated by Sally Terroux, a professional handler and noted obedience trainer; and JoAnn Weller, a local Basenjite interested in obedience training. Seventeen Basenjis were enrolled in the class which started in July. Sally, having noted that Basenjis accepted training a little differently than most other breeds, and used some new training methods for our class, and after nine weeks of hard work, determination, and patience, fifteen of the original seventeen starters were ready for graduation. Twelve of the fifteen Basenjis graduated with passing scores and three others were absent graduation night due to vacations.

The success of this all Basenji obedience class is evident in that, already three participants have earned their Companion Dog degree and several others will be starting in the obedience ring this coming spring. From my experience in this class, I would like to say that Basenjis are like most other breeds in that some dogs make excellent subjects for obedience while others could care less, and let their owners know it. Not every dog is capable of becoming a good obedience dog due to the personality of the dog. The training (or lack of training) the dog may have had previously and other factors that might be associated with each individual dog.

The fall shows closed for us with the Thanksgiving weekend shows in Lincoln and Omaha, Nebraska, followed by the Terry-All Kennel Club show in Denver. The Lincoln and Omaha shows proved again this year to be a popular gathering place for Basenjites with representatives from Nebraska, Minnesota, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, and Colorado. A total of 30 Basenjis were entered in these two shows and the entry of 7 specials was the largest in the shows. Dinner on Saturday night and coffee and donuts on Sunday morning was the gathering place for Basenjites to discuss their favorite breed.

The Terry-All show in Denver closed the season for us and it ended on an especially happy note for yours truly as our little guy, CH. BWANA AKERS' SOLEMN PROMISE, not only won the breed over six specials, but went on to take FIRST in the HOUND GROUP.

We had a cat.
William Rufus was his name.
He ate delicious fish dinners.
Aunt Kit says I must remember Willie

"Mamma, Santa loves my Gary too!"

"But, my feet get cold without her!"

"He'll get lonely."

"That's Gary, he's a Basenji."

These are words of pride, love and concern spoken, on various occasions by our six year old daughter Kathy, and seven year old son Art.

Dion and I were quite concerned a year ago when we purchased three Basenjis, all over a year old, and none of them were born or raised with or around children. How would these pets react to childish screams, tears, play and handling? Would they be frightened or shy?
Would they tolerate or obey the commands of their young owners?

Most dogs that bite, snarl, or snap do so, as a rule, not out of viciousness, but from fright. A dog's bite, snarl or snaps are his protection, the same as a child's punch or slaps. We've raised several breeds of dogs over the years and there are always a few dogs of any given breed that do not take to children. Others adjust easily.

As we look back, it's amazing how well these Basenjis took to the children.
"Sunset" acted as if she had been away from home. She was all smiles and yo-

POETS' CORNER

"HELP!"

Hello, how are you? Oh, me?
I'm fine, for I'm crazy you see.
To a wonderful sailor, I'm married,
We've a boy and girl, we've not tarried.

And now here's the rest of the clan,
Who really weren't in our family plan.
First, the Basenjis, number of four,
On Christmas eve, there's to be more.

Then our ducks, number of five,
They can't quack, now doesn't that jive?
Here of late, they've begun to mate,
It begins to look like a family trait.

Of course there's our cat, black as pitch,
Her mom couldn't meow, that's no switch.
Somehow she's even crazier than me,
And who else looks pregnant? Whoopee!

For Easter, two rabbits are promised,
By July, any bets on how many among us?
Our landlord's horse, white as the sky is blue,

Of course, she's expecting too!

She's worn out her tail, switching flies,
And believe it or not, these are not lies.
They say, "the more the merrier"
And it'll be a miracle,
If in a few more months,
We're not hysterical!!

BE(AU) JABBERS

May this New Year bring all you wish,
And then a few things more —
Like bones to bury in the yard
Or hide behind the door;

A bed that's meant for you alone,
All soft and warm and snug
Where you can roll, stretch and dream
Like that bug in the rug.

And, best of all, for you I wish
Someone who loves to boast
That there's no other dog like you
And thinks you are the most!

HOLLY

There once was a Basenji named Holly
Who considered ball chasing sheer folly.
When balls whizzed through the air,
She turned nary a hair,
But found chewing on pillows quite jolly!

the fun of a merry chase as only a child can lead.

With the anniversary of the purchase of three noble Basenjis - we look back with heartfelt thanks for whatever motivation caused us to go ahead and take a chance on Basenjis with children.
