COVER STORY

On our cover this month is 13 month old TANDA'S JAUNTY DANDY, pictured with his handler, Earl Gullikson. He now has 13 points towards his title, going Best of Breed over specials from the puppy class for the first of his points.

"DANDY" is sired by our AM. and CAN. CH. TANDA'S CHRISTMAS SYMBOL, top winning Basenji in Canada for 1967, also third in Hound Group Placements in the United States last year. His dam is our CH. BEE-JAC'S FANTASY, one of the top producers in the country; he will be her ninth champion offspring when he finishes.

This boy is line-bred, inheriting his long, free-flowing stride and showmanship from SYMBOL; his long neck and legs from TASSY. With his superb coat texture, strong topline and high set ears, DANDY is a picture of alert elegance.

"DANDY" has had his eyes examined by Dr. Roberts of Stanford University, and no abnormalities were found. A proven stud, fee $100, he is at home to approved bitches with his kennel mates SYMBOL and ROGUE (see page 6).

GENETICS AND THE BASENJI

by Marsha Jean Speiler, 513 Albert Avenue
East Lansing, Michigan 48023
and

Nancy Lee Pelzer, Route 1, Elcho, Wisconsin 54428

Both Marsha and Nancy graduated from Arizona State University in 1967 with a B. S. degree in Animal Science. Nancy minored in Zoology and English, and Marsha minored in Chemistry and Zoology. Currently they are both working on their Masters, PHD program. Nancy at the University of Illinois, at Urbana in Physiology and Marsha at Michigan State University in Population Genetics, both under the Department of Animal Science. Nancy's home is Elcho, Wisconsin and Marsha is from Chandler, Arizona, where she keeps her Basenjis (SHIFTING SANDS KENNEL) with her parents.

BASENJI GENETICS will be published in a series of installments. We hope you will enjoy them, and if there are any questions, please send them to Marsha and she will try to answer them in the next month's installment.

Ideas about genetics have existed since the Greek philosophers. A brief background of some of these ideas and the men who fathered them will give you a better understanding of the science of genetics as it is known today.

Most of the early beliefs were so mixed with misinformation that they were of little value. For example, the Greeks believed that the giraffe arose from crossing a camel with a leopard. A camel crossed with a boar, resulted in a two humped camel, while a camel and a sparrow gave rise to an ostrich! Such thoughts persisted for over two thousand years, clouding the road for further advancement. It was not until the seventeenth century that any light was shed upon the concept of reproduction.

William Harvey (1578-1657) was the first to present the idea of sexual reproduction in animals. He was unable to see sperm, but he did grasp the idea that semen somehow fertilized the egg in the female.

Regnur de Graaf (1641-1673), classified as the first embryologist, could only talk in general terms about the process of ovulation and embryo development, since without a microscope, he was unable to see into the small world of the cell.

Leewenhock (1632-1723), a Dutch naturalist, advanced science more than any inventor. His microscope, developed in 1677, made the microworld as visible as the macroworld. Leewenhock observed the union of eggs and sperm of frogs and fish, and noted for the first time that it took only one egg and one sperm to form an embryo, and that only one sperm penetrated an egg. It was not until 1823 that the use of a better microscope enabled Von Baer to discover the tiny mammalian egg.

These new discoveries led to the development of new theories among scientists. One of the first theories presented was that of preformation. It stated that the sperm carried a complete individual, and the individual merely grew larger in time with no change in form. The egg supplied nourishment only. Another group, the ovists, claimed that the individual was in the egg and the sperm merely supplied the stimulus needed for growth.

Both of these theories have been disproved by modern science but they were useful in that they provided the first mechanical basis for reproduction. The theory of epigenesis, first proposed by Wolff in 1759, displaced them and is still the accepted theory today. It states that both the sperm and the egg contain unspecialized cellular material that upon conception develops and differentiates into tissues and organs. Thus the embryo grows and constantly changes form.

..... AND BRIGHTER

"FLAME" - MAKILA MOTANE MOKE

Pictured with her owner-handler, Michael Work of Willow Street, Pennsylvania, taking Winners Bitch for a 4-point major, under Mrs. Edith Nash Hellerman at Hockamock K.C. show, Norton, Mass., 6/29/68, where they were welcomed by the BCONE with real old fashioned New England hospitality.

Knowledge of the embryo and syngamy was accumulated over centuries. Lamarck (1744-1829), a French naturalist is called the father of the modern theory of evolution. Why variation occurred among individuals was explained by the theory of Lamarckism - the inheritance of acquired characteristics. For example, fish living in dark caves were blind because they did not use their eyes. Swimming birds, such as ducks, acquired webbed feet by the stretching of the skin between their toes as they swam. These acquired characteristics were passed on from generation to generation. Thus, environment was the cause of variation. Food requirements, climate, and geographical conditions were believed to be the chief causes for bodily and physiological variations. August Weismann proposed the presently accepted theory, in the latter part of the nineteenth century. In his germ plasm theory, he stated that reproduction in animals does not occur from body cells, but from germ plasm (known today as chromosomes - the carriers of the genes that convey hereditary characteristics) which is passed from generation to generation unchanged, except by random mutation.

The Austrian monk, Gregor Mendel, experimenting with garden peas, supported this theory and laid the foundation principles for the modern science of genetics (1866). He was the first to consider each trait individually and develop two basic principles, (1) independent segregation of chromosomes and their subsequent (2) independent recombination. These two principles will be discussed further in a following article.

As in any science, business or profession, genetics has its own language. Some of the basics of this language will be useful to review here.

Genetics is the science that seeks to explain the resemblances and differences shown by related animals. The field of genetics is studied in three divisions: the chemical nature and structure of genes; the processes of differentiation (continued on page 24)

HONOR ROLL

Another four studs gained a place on my personal "register of merit" during the past year. The great CH. CAMBRIA'S TI-MUNGAI welcomes two of his sons, CH. CAMBRIA'S NYAKATII and CH. CAMBRIA'S TI-TJADER to the list. CH. GLENAIRLEY GOLDEN FRESCO adds a "howdy" to his offspring CH. PHEMISTER'S GOLD STANDARD. Not to be outdone CH. MERLEA'S SUN DANCER extends a paw to my own favorite CH. TINAS COMA TOP HIT.

News of the year, however, is the phenomenal rise of CH. FERUZI OF THE ZANDE. Moving from the somewhat "crowded" ranks of those studs credited with 7 champions each all the way to fifth place on the list, he is currently challenging his marvelous sire CH. REVEILLE RECRUIT for fourth place.

The cut-off remains at 5 champion progeny (American champions, that is). And the champions credited to each stud have all been published in the AKC Gazette in or prior to the June 1968 issue. According to my records, there have been 921 Basenjis whose championships have been officially published as of that issue. With the 51 studs listed below, I have accounted for 446 of these champions, or just slightly under half the total.

The letters behind a stud's name indicate that he is the father (capital letters) or the son (lower case letters) of another stud on this list. The (*) indicates that I would appreciate some kind soul's furnishing me with the names of that dog's sire and dam.

Have fun, and if you think you've caught me in a mistake, sock it to me. Any time anyone says to me that CPAs aren't supposed to make mistakes, I ask them how come we buy those great big erasers.

Here's a little tip for those of you who aren't members of the Basenji Club of America. Join now, and your dues will be paid through October 1, 1969. Something of a bargain, what? And you'll be able to vote in the election this fall. Then you'll be entitled to gripe if you don't like what happens.

From The Spears Family, 10223 Vernlyn,
San Antonio, Texas

Announce the birth of a pure-bred, DOUGLAS HOWARD, July 6, 1968; weight class, 8 pounds, 8 ounces; registered member of A. K. C., (Adorable Kin Club), Our Blue Ribbon Winner! Not yet housebroken.

From Mrs. Anthony St. Erme Cardew, Preston House
Preston, Uppingham, Rutland, England

. . . As you know, I have had the breed for 27 years and love them dearly although they can be the most aggravating dogs on dog's earth. One never really owns one - they own you! As do cats, Chihuahuas and the Tibetan breeds, I have found.

. . . I have handled CH. ST. ERME FULA FALCON to all his C.C's. He is a great family pet and much loved, so sweet with all our other pets, and above all, adores his young son TURA (ST. ERME ADVENTURA AZENDA, our latest star. . . In fairness to FALCON, although always in top condition, tends to get a paler colour of coat this time of year. He has an ultra fine coat and being born in summer (8/14/65) tends to cast his slight winter woolies in summer - but for TURA to win the huge puppy stakes was really a wonderful boost for the breed. We have been showered with congratulations from so many fellow exhibitors owning other breeds.

My husband edits the Basenji Chronicle, but it's a bit feeble by the side of your pro magazine. . . .

Our annual show comes up early next month. I have won Best in Show in 1963, 1964 and 1965 with CH. ANDERSLEY ATLANTIA (also owned her from puppyhood), and in 1966 and 1967 with FALCON. It will be interesting to see what happens this year. . . .

With very best wishes to all Basenji enthusiasts in the States. It's a life ambition to come over to see one of your shows. We have many friends in the States, but until recently have been rather tied with my five sons and a multitude of pets, but we now have more help in the house and garden. Our second son, Paul, goes to college in October. The third, Jeremy, hopes to study veterinary surgery at Cambridge later. He is sixteen. Julian wants to be a naval officer. He is just thirteen, and the baby, Nicholas, six and a half years, is still my right hand man and an excellent Basenji handler. All our boys were brought up with the breed, and I must say I have always found them absolutely reliable with children. But they are a clever breed, and I think many Basenjis hate being benched and poked at by strangers, yet when allowed to meet them with their four feet on the ground, they are the best of pals.

From Mrs. Karl Oestreich, 14 Whynot Street
West End, Brisbane, Queensland, Australia 4101

On behalf of my son Karl who is only ten years old, I am writing you a few lines about our Basenjis over here. We have a bitch at the moment who is only 14 months old and who will have her championship title by the time you get this letter. Her name is KOORABAR MAKALA. We don't have many Basenjis over here - there are only 19 registered in Queensland. Up north, Mrs. D. McLaughlin has a few from what we hear. She does quite well with them up there, she has won Best in Show a few times. We see her only once a year at the Royal show which is held in Brisbane in August.

HOLLY LIN'S CAPTAIN HOOK

"CHAD" shown at the Redwood Empire Kennel Club show, May 5, 1968, with friend Betty Merck, under Judge William H. Pym. "Chad" won the Open Dog class and went Winners Dog for an additional 2 points.

Owner/Breeders: Linda and Jack G. Hollenbeck, 3166 Bryant Street, Palo Alto, California 94306.

The judges don't seem to like Basenjis very much. I don't know why - perhaps because they don't know too much about them or have not seen enough of them. We have one tri that Mrs. Clatworthy is showing at the moment, but the judges don't seem to like him. He is a very nice dog, his name is HEATHDON KILJONGO KING. He has good length of leg and a nice head. We find most of our dogs over here were, and still are, too coarse in head and too heavy in bone. If he was red and white they would like him better.

Our little girl is good in bone and head, but a little short in leg. I would say she has a good tail set, she is 23 pounds now. One time she was 27 pounds. I don't like her ears very much - she does not hold them very good, but her movement is excellent. We think she is lovely anyway and we would not trade her for the world. She's one of the family. We have so much fun and learned so much since we got her.

Mrs. Clatworthy's two bitches just gave birth to two litters. They are very nice - two or three of them will be shown, so we will see them in the ring by the end of the year.

More and more people are getting to know them better now. We go to quite a few country shows and the things one hears. Sometimes you don't know whether to laugh or cry - it all depends on your sense of humor, I think. I was in the ring one day and my husband was watching from the side and he overheard two women talking. One said, "Oh, that's a Basenji." The other said, "What's that, a disease?" "No," the other said, "It's a Basenji - they don't bark." "Why not?" "Because they cut their vocal cords when they are pups." "Oh, the poor pups."

One thing I am always amazed at is the way the Basenjis stand in the magazine. They are always so beautiful. We can never get our girl to stand like that when we want to take her photo. . . .

MIDWEST FROLICS

by Annette Butler, 1741 West 105th Street, Chicago, Illinois

Dearest Basenji,

This letter is in reference to your growing reputation as a "furniture-ivorous" animal (chewer) as compared to carnivorous. I am wondering how you managed to acquire this label, seemingly mentioned almost synonymously with the Basenji. It's somewhat of a mystery to me. Every so often, I meet a Basenji breeder or owner who will almost boastfully describe his Basenji's accomplishments in furniture destruction. It seems to me that the Basenji has many fine qualities to brag about, and to exaggerate individual cases as being a breed characteristic, such as chewing, is unnecessary. One breed can't claim everything, you know.

I've heard of cases in which dogs of other breeds have at least matched, if not surpassed you in the field of chewing. For instance, a pair of Boxers who tore down everything in an apartment from the pictures on the walls to the carpets on the floors. They may have overlooked a few ash trays, but nonetheless, I consider this quite an accomplishment in a limited period of three hours. However, there were two on the job! I also know of a Visla who completely destroyed a mattress and box springs in a very short time. An Airdale, a Dachshund, a Poodle, a Weimaraner; oh, I could go on, but I'm certain you understand what I'm implying. You'll simply have to come down to earth and admit, although you have some distinguishing characteristics, you are still classified as "Canis familiaris" or dog.

There are numerous articles in books and pamphlets discussing "Why a dog needs to chew." If you'll bother yourself to do research on this topic, you'll notice they do not single out the Basenji breed. There are numerous explanations offered, such as chewing on something partially cleans the teeth, massages the gums, and relieves "doggie tensions." Puppies also need something to chew on while their teeth and jaws are developing.

I suppose if a new Basenji owner is informed by the breeder that "Basenjis are chewers" rather than "puppies will chew," the new owner may not bother himself to correct the Basenji and direct it to proper articles such as rawhides, etc., on which it may fulfill its chewing needs. Thus, a feeling of apathy develops toward Basenji chewing and is passed along from owner to owner. On the other hand, those people wise enough to realize the Basenji puppy is much like a puppy of any other breed inasmuch as training and guidance, along with love, are required to produce a dog who is well behaved and knowledgeable to what is expected of him. Though this may surprise you, some people actually feel destructive chewing is undesirable and shy away from having a Basenji in their home because of the exaggerated reputation as a chewer.

Just because there may be a new baby in your home, Basenji, you may have been deprived of some privileges and shunned a little. When you're not being patted or played with, it's only natural for you to revert to chewing some little (or big) tidbit out of boredom. That's only natural for you and other breeds of dogs who love their families and feel rejected. Or you, Puppy Basenji, who is left alone all day - what could pass the time more quickly than exploring and chewing? These are only two possible motives you may have. Situations as these are not typical only to Basenjis and neither is the chewing reaction.

This is why I think the accent on Basenjis as chewers should not be further exaggerated, but modified truer to reality. I do not intend to deprive you completely of a chewing (continued on page 24)

Championship Shows In Great Britain

by Ernest Goodman, 8 Hardy Grove, Folly Lane
Swinton, Manchester, England

Following the W. E. L. K. S. show, challenge certificates were next on offer for Basenjis at Glasgow, Scotland. This is now the only championship show in Scotland where challenge certificates can be gained in our breed. Although entries are never very large there, mainly because of the distances involved for English exhibitors who make most of the entries, C.C.'s. are allotted by the kennel club in order that the breed may be seen in Scotland. The average entry is about six per class, but this year there was at least a very good entry of 13 in open bitch. The judge was Mr. A. W. Fullwood, one of our senior all-rounders who has been judging the breed for as long as I can remember.

This show does not usually produce any news particularly worthy of note, but this year made history in that, for the first time over here, the two contestants for the dog C.C. were both black and white - Mrs. Ford's TAYSENJI YOKO, on which I have commented favourably before, and Mrs. Stringer's younger dog, SIR BUNTAR OF HORSLEY which I have not yet seen. The eventual winner was YOKO with SIR BUNTAR the reserve. The C.C. in bitches and Best of Breed was won by Mrs. Stringer's CH. SIREN OF HORSLEY, the winner at W. E. L. K. S. who is obviously making a very successful comeback, and reserve to her was Diane Berry's CH. HOBBY HORSE OF SIN.

At Leeds Championship Show on the 25th of May, there was an average entry of 29 Basenjis, making 54 entries, an average of 7.7 per class, and Mrs. Stringer was the judge elect. The highlight of this show was the gaining of her third and qualifying C.C. by Mr. Fleming's r/w bitch PITA YAMBA. This win caused general pleasure around the ringside as she has been shown consistently and fearlessly over a long period, and has been very unlucky, having, apart from her C.C.'s. gained about a dozen reserve C.C.'s. I gained personal pleasure in that I awarded this bitch her second C.C. at the same show in 1967. I had, in fact, tried to buy her as a puppy. I am sure that Jack Fleming is now glad that he didn't sell! Reserve to him was Miss Rutherford's r/w TAYSENJI TUYEY. The dog C.C. and Best of Breed went to Mrs. Cowley's tri BASIL OF NIANGARA who gained his first C.C. at Manchester under (continued on page 25)

Some time ago, we had a letter from a girl who had graduated from the junior handling ring due to age. She asked why we never had guest juniors write the column. On three occasions in this column, we have requested that juniors write a guest column, but no article ever came forth. We then asked her if she would like to write the August column since she said she would like to contribute. We have not heard from her.

We did receive two letters from a junior who has yet to make her debut at a point show. We wish her luck and believe she has a future. She is not afraid to ask questions of those around and is learning all she can by attending matches. Here is the first letter we received from her:

Dear Mr. Trottier,

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for introducing yourself to me at the Longshore-Southport Kennel Club show. It made me feel as if I belonged, even though I didn't have an entry.

I received my first Basenji as a 15th birthday present, and thanks to Mrs. Bernice Anderson, joined the B. C. O. A.

At this show I also met the famous Mrs. Marianne Grybinski and Mr. Ross Newmann. Mr. Newmann was very kind and spent a few minutes of his precious time (in 90 degree weather) in showing me how to set up my dog, the proper collar and lead to use and how to groom him. I came home walking on a cloud.

I've only shown my puppy once at the Brookhaven Kennel Club match and he took a third in the Hound Group.

I attend the Half Hollow Hill High School in Huntington, and will be in my second year in the fall. My favorite subject is math and I plan to become a high school math teacher. My favorite sport is horse back riding and basketball, but I'm going to concentrate on showing my puppy as soon as he's old enough.

Sincerely, Christine Jendzo

P. S. I haven't received my Basenji magazine for June and I'm especially anxious as my puppy's father is on the cover.

Her second letter is as follows:

Dear Mr. Trottier,

On June 16, I took my Basenji puppy MOLOWNDU to a match in the Bronx. MOLOWNDU won his class but was beaten by an older puppy for Best of Breed. He took reserve, and I'm very proud of him. I went into junior showmanship and to my surprise, MOLOWNDU and I took first! At four and a half months MOLOWNDU, in two showings has won a reserve to Best of Breed, one Best of Breed and one Group three. I really enjoy showing MOLOWNDU and can't wait until he is old enough to be shown in point shows.

A TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN, CANADIAN, MEXICAN CHAMPION

FULA HAZARD OF THE CONGO

WILLI is dead. Such sad unbelievable words I have seldom heard. They came from my husband Phil the tragic evening our beloved Basenji met his death in the form of a boy on a motorcycle.

WILLI had been separated for several days from his three daughters who were in season. Frustration must have finally got the better of him. At any rate, when he saw his chance to slip out of the main gate, he took it. He looked back once when his master, to whom he was usually so obedient, called him. Then off he went in search of what, we do not know. Perhaps there was another little lady dog somewhere in the neighborhood.

PHIL immediately got in his car and drove up and down the street, searching. But when he checked back to see if "Willi" might have come home while he was gone, he was met by a boy who reported that the little red dog had run right into the path of his "bike" and he was unable to avoid hitting him. He must have died instantly for his beautiful neck was broken, but there was not another mark on him.

Our only consolation is that we still have one of his daughters from his first litter and also her two beautiful little red and white daughters from a litter sired by him, and just six months old. In addition, my parents' CH. STACON AMBER TULE, another daughter from his first litter, and is expecting his last litter on July 11th.

WE have high hopes that "Willi's" progeny will carry on his great name. From all reports, many of his pups from previous matings are making great successes in the ring. They have an outstanding record to live up to for "Willi" had ten Best of Breeds, one in late 1966, and nine in 1967; with two Group Fourths. He would have been shown more in 1967 except for a stubborn kidney infection that kept him out of the ring for several months.

We wish to thank all those who have written and called, expressing their sadness at our loss. "Willi" had many friends, and the Basenji World was just beginning to realize what a great sire he was.

SOUTHERN B.C.O.A. SPECIALTY

by Jo York, 1913 Winthrop, Irving, Texas 75060

We are proud to report that we have purchased over $700 worth of silver to be given as trophies at the 1968 BCOA Southern Specialty, to be held in Dallas on September 29, 1968. Although we have not received the results of the balloting for the judge, it is between Mr. Percy Roberts and Mr. Rutledge Gilliland. We are happy to announce that the Puppy Sweepstakes will be judged by Mrs. Margaret E. Robertson of the famous MERLEA BASENJIS, Victoria, British Columbia. Mrs. Robertson is a past president of the B.C.O.A.

There will be a dinner and cocktail hour September 28, at the Marriott Motor Hotel the evening before the show. For reservations for the dinner and a room, write directly to: Marriott Motor Hotel, 2101 Stemmons Freeway, Dallas, Texas 75207. The price of the dinner will be $6.25. We are very happy to get the use of the Marriott Motor Hotel, for not only is it a very nice hotel but it is right across the street from Market Hall where the show will be held. Several other dog clubs tried to get a block of rooms and to have their dinner at the Marriott and they were turned down. Shane told the management, "Our dogs do not bark!"

We want to thank all of those who sent in trophies and money for the specialty, and thanks to those who worked so hard in the South Plains Basenji Club. The SPBC in three years raised $300 towards this show. We have provided some very beautiful trophies, a show location, a place for the dinner and rooms, a large booth for information on Basenjis and a very outstanding judge for the puppy sweepstakes. Now all we need to make this the best specialty ever held is you and your dogs!

The following is a list of the trophies:

REVEILLE BASENJIS

More than a dozen years ago when Bettina Belmont Ward wanted to start a kennel of Basenjis in Middleburg, Virginia, I started my first job with her. She had already imported GOLD PIP OF THE CONGO and RED WING OF THE CONGO from Veronica Tudor-Williams. Her next acquisition and one that made tremendous impact as a sire, was BRAHME OF SYNGEFIELD. These three all became champions, as well as her subsequent imports, RIVIANA JOLLITY OF THE CONGO, VICTORY OF SYNGEFIELD and MY LOVE OF THE CONGO. Mrs. Ward gave the breed a tremendous boost with excellent foundation stock, a good breeding program and extensive breeding and showing. She gave me my choice of the first crop of six litters and BETTINA'S FEDHA (Ch. Gold Pip of the Congo x Ch. Riviana Jollity of the Congo) became my constant companion. "CHIPMONK," as she is known to her many, many friends, finished her title with her fourth straight major at the Garden in 1957.

After leaving Middleburg, I continued with the Basenjis in a small, select way, and also obtained my all-breed handlers license. "CHIPMONK" produced, by BLACK CLARION OF THE CONGO, CH. REVEILLE RIFLEMAN who before his untimely death, sired one litter in which was CH. REVEILLE RECRUIT. "ROOKIE" garnered 112 Best of Breeds and 63 group placings, including six firsts. To date, he has sired 17 champions with many more on the way. FULA REVEILLE OF THE CONGO, from Miss Tudor-Williams, has also made his mark as a sire with 11 champions to date and more on the way. CH. RUFFLES OF ROSE-BAY, bred by the William C. Hills, by FULA REVEILLE out of their CH. ROSE-BAY'S GAY BUTA, has combined very successfully with her grandsire RECRUIT, to produce 14 offspring so far. These include the Best in Show Winner CH. REVEILLE RE-UP: REVEILLE RED ALERT; ROSETTE, REWARD, RECALL TO ROSE-BAY, RELAY TO WILBARRIE, RATOON, REGALIA and others who have not yet made their ring debuts. Another of note that has borne the REVEILLE prefix is REVEILLE RAISE THE FLAG.

It has been over twenty years since I showed my first dog, and with ideals and a standard clearly in mind, we expect to continue on the same modest scale - to work toward the best interest of the breed.

- - - Damara Bolte'

Our thanks to Damara for her short descriptive story. I am sure that all will agree that she has been far too modest in telling of her early days as a Basenji "pioneer." Damara, ROOKIE (CH. REVEILLE RECRUIT), and WILLIE WAG TAIL (FULA REVEILLE OF THE CONGO) are synonymous with the best in Basenjis. Together they have done much to improve and promote the breed. I'm sure we all acknowledge and appreciate her dedication and assistance.

questions, she will write us or talk with us at the shows.

Further congratulations go to:

Martha Gilbert for another first place (her third) and another third place. Dale Gilbert for a first place (we understand Dale now works on Saturdays so we'll be looking for her at the Sunday shows. Mike Work took another third place. He also went Reserve Winners Dog and Winners Bitch (4 points) in stiff competition at Hockamock Kennel Club show.

Robert Stosz has graduated from the Novice division - keep up the good work. Bruce Trotter has 3 more second places in Novice - looks as though he's in a rut.

A fourth place in Novice was won by Mrs. Marianne Grybinski's niece, but to be honest, I don't remember her name, sorry.

A word of advice from Mike Work - get used to using a French choke on your Basenji then you can loose lead them with no trouble at all when called on to do so, and they work smoother. We'd like to add that when you do use a French choke for showing on a loose lead be sure to shorten up the length you use, or your arm will be above your head when gaing, with the collar up near his head.

Good luck and REPORT YOUR WINS!

Basenji Club of Canada

by M. E. MacDonald, 44 Glengarry Drive
Saint John East, New Brunswick

At the Dorvall show, I was very pleased to be able to meet Mr. Vic Williams, past president of the Canadian Kennel Club and have a short chat with him; also Andy Gault from Ontario, who helped out by taking in my open dog, and beating me with my special. Also enjoyed meeting and talking with Mrs. Paul Schwencke, a fellow B.C.O.A. member from Malone, New York, as well as answering many, many questions about the breed from interested spectators from the Montreal area. As yet, the Basenji is a relatively rare breed in Quebec province and one that is read about but never seen.

Out on the west coast, Betty Lou Sinclair, is very proud of her favourite red and white Basenji male, FULA MIKIA OF THE CONGO. She writes to say he is well on his way to his championship with 14 points and 3 majors.

Show ring competition in Ontario is very keen and copies of the show reports received from John Fenney indicate that the judges are having a hard time deciding whose dog is just a little bit better. These reports appear in their own section, and reading between the lines, you will see how exciting and close the judging has been.

Down here in the Atlantic area, it has been rumoured that some very good Basenjies from the eastern states will be seen in some of our summer shows, trying for their Canadian title, and competition for points will be keen with a new crop of puppies having matured and are expected to make things interesting for the older dogs and specials.

The Eastern Zone Specialty is now being firmed up and the printing of permium lists is underway. The lists will be available before this report is in print. Copies may be had from the show secretary: Mr. John E. Fenney, 76 Belmont Street, Toronto 5, Ontario. Mrs. Moyna Nelson is the show chairman and treasurer, and offers the following information:

"The Eastern Zone Specialty will be held on Sunday, October 13, 1968; the second day of a two-day show held in conjunction with the Greenwood Kennel Club All Breed show.

"Mr. Norman Wallace of TINAS COMA KENNELS, will judge the Specialty, with Mrs. Wallace doing the honors the day before. We cordially invite every one to attend."

The show committee is going all out to make this a most successful show and an interesting weekend for Basenji-ites. The prize list is most comprehensive, and in addition to the regular C.K.C. official classes, we have classes for Sire and Get; Dam and Progeny; Brace and Team.

A Special Basenji Racing Event has been organized and prizes will be given for the Winning Dog, Winning Bitch and Winning Puppy. Also a Special Prize will be awarded to the

This month's drawing is presented in the hope that it will help you to set your mind on the various points to which the standard refers. The terms used are about the same as are used for any breed. I don't think that further explanation is needed of the drawing.

This entire series on Basenji anatomy has been presented to you with the hope of helping you to better understand what the Basenji standard is all about. I have tried to simplify it as much as possible and to present it in a language that the

I am a far cry from being a good artist, but will try to tackle this immense project. If everyone is going to breed, let's at least know what we are breeding. Let's keep our standards high so that every Basenji that's sold, bought, strayed or given away will be worthy of its heritage.

The Magnolia Basenji Club

by Elizabeth T. Hogland
13256 108th Avenue North, Largo, Fla.

The Florida spring circuit is over for this year. While it was more convenient for local residents to have each set of shows on consecutive weekends, the previous (and our winter shows) procedure of having all the shows in a two-week period drew more out-of-state exhibitors and handlers. With the change in the point system, it will be increasingly difficult to get major points, and we need these visitors to boost our entries. Or perhaps, we just need to encourage more local owners to show. A comment overheard made by a spectator, "Oh, he wins all the time," proves that the viewing public tires of seeing the same dogs constantly. From the exhibitors point of view, how is one going to win if one doesn't show?

A Board of Directors meeting was held following the Basenji judging in Tampa, on Sunday, June 23. Several of our officers and members of the Board have been forced to resign, either because of illness, or the pressure of other duties. This meeting was called to fill these unexpired terms for the remainder of the Club year.

Ouida McGahee was chosen president; vice president and secretary remain the same, Dean Guess and Peggy Grundman, respectively. New members on the Board are Don Castle, Minnie Hill and Twyla Kloos, who join remaining members, Margaret Drake and Betty Hogland.

The next regular meeting has been called for October 12, in conjunction with the Atlanta and Macon shows. Notification of exact time and place will be given by our secretary. Please hold this weekend open for the shows and meeting, we have many items of importance to discuss.

An effort to resume publication of the News-Hound is under way. All members with articles of interest are urged to send them to Ruth Powers or Twyla Kloos. As a matter of fact, this reporter would welcome hearing from you, as business reports can be dull reading.

I did hear from Christine Barnard and Dorothy Brashear from New York state where they are spending the summer. Their CH. KHETA OF HILLSHALF ACRE recently qualified for her first leg on her C.D. degree under very trying circumstances (for a Basenji - outside in tall wet grass). KHETA is soon six years old, which goes to prove it can be done!

CURLY TALES FROM THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS

by Earl and Diane Laue, 3593 East Lake Drive
Littleton, Colorado 80120

The spring shows are over now and it has been a very rewarding spring for three local Basenji owners who earned championships on their dogs. Carl and Gladys Vallance are to be congratulated on their new champion SANSABRA'S BEENEE MARTEENEE. "BEENEE" finished in April at the Kansas shows winning back to back majors.

In May, Earl and I finished our tri bitch KHAJAH'S MIDNITE ECLAIR. "CLAIR" finished her title after taking time out to raise two litters and in my opinion, she gives proof to the fact that a bitch can win just as easily after having pups than before. Many people seem to feel a bitch is "over the hill" after being bred, but we have yet to have one of our bitches stay out of shape by having pups.

Jan and Bill Magee were the only enthusiasts from our area to make the Montana Circuit this year, and their trip was certainly worthwhile as they finished their JAAMBA'S BOY OF THE CONGO the final day of the circuit. "BWANA" has an impressive list of majors to his credit and our congratulations to Jan and Bill. "BWANA" was also selected Winners Dog at our B.C.O.A. Supported Show in Pueblo by Judge Louis Murr, for a 4 point major just two weeks before his final win.

Winners Bitch at the Supported Show went to a lovely tri, CAMBRIA'S TI-PHAEDRA, just eight months old. "PHAEDRA" is owned by Gerald and Jackie Strovass of California who were in the Rocky Mountain area on vacation. We all enjoyed meeting and visiting with the Strovass and hope they will be able to return soon.

This month we have the Top Ten Listing for Best of Breed and Group Winners for the period from January through April 1968. Our tally is taken from the A.K.C. Gazette and includes all shows listed through the June issue.

WAGGING TALES FROM NEW YORK

by Hazel Ulm, RD 2, Winney Hill Road
Oneonta, New York 13820

When I didn't snap right back after major surgery, I was forced to face the fact that I've added a few years since surgery at sixteen years of age.

It's great after the winter months to see old friends at the shows again. Flo and Herman Kingon are proudly presenting their new bitch puppy at ringside. I just wonder if handler Shirley Chambers has to baby talk her in order to be understood. FIRENZA is Flo's "baby."

Bob Yanowitz and family have lots to be excited about this year - son Eddie has been accepted at Yale University. Their new male puppy took points at both shows over the weekend, and the family is planning a trip to Spain this summer. Wish I could go as excess baggage, but guess I'll have to settle for a postcard.

We are sorry to hear of the death of Reva Lawson's COBHAM'S SIR GAWAINE due to an obstruction. GAWAINE was Winners Dog at last year's Eastern Specialty and had ten points, both majors, at the time of his death.

Bobbi and Martin Abelson are planning still another addition to their household. They adopted a baby this past winter and now Bobbi is expecting one. They were at the Rhinebeck show with their new puppy bitch SPEARWOOD SUN-BONNET OF BOMAR, so they do indeed have a full house.

Allen Craven will be going to Alaska for a year, and we all wish him the best of luck. We know it will be hard on Iris and the children to be separated from Allen so long.

It's always nice to see the happy face of Nana Oguri at the shows, and at Walden she had a friend, JoAnn Federowski Minor with her. JoAnn is completely owned by her flashy tri male pup FETTY'S JUBA-JO and is proud to admit it. Welcome to the club!

The Frank Jones's had their new puppies down for the weekend shows. I found their KIOGA'S INDIAN RED an especial flashy, attractive male, only needing some maturing and firming up before he comes into his own.

Alice Head tells me that she is training her male, KLEENEGG'S LITTLE DEVIL for the obedience ring, so we can expect to see him as well as Dolores Dedek's male FALCON in the obedience rings this summer. Both having trained and shown German Shepherd Dogs before, are finding a slight difference in the Basenji's attitude. Good Luck!

and organization as the embryo develops, and the mode of transmission of hereditary determiners (genes) from parent to offspring. The latter holds the greatest interest for the animal breeder.

Heredity is described as transmission of biological traits from ancestors to descendants. These traits are qualitative or quantitative in nature. Qualitative traits are determined by one or two pairs of genes and are clearly defined. An example in Basenjis would be the tri-color and the red and white color coats. In contrast, quantitative characters show many variations. Again, using Basenjis, you see taller up-standing dogs, and short squat dogs, with every combination in between. We will be talking about qualitative heredity in a future article.

Genes are the units of heredity. They are completely responsible for the expression of any characteristic, be it coat color, curls of the tail, or the barkless feature of the Basenji. The genes of higher organisms consist of deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA). The DNA structure consists of many different genes. Its role as genetic material is to determine the nature of each of the cellular proteins synthesized which in turn, give rise to cytological expression in the form of coat color, body build, etc.

A single molecule of DNA (which occurs as a long strand of genes shaped in a closed circular pattern) is known as a Chromosome. Chromosomes occur in pairs in a cell. Thus each gene located on a chromosome has a complimentary gene on its sister chromosome. These two genes may be the same, or one may be a variation of the other, in which case, it is called the allele of its sister gene. An example of this would be normal pigmentation (Gene 1) versus albinism (Gene 2). Gene 2 (albinism) is an allele of Gene 1.

A carrier is an individual animal who carries a recessive gene that is not expressed because it is obscured by a dominant allele. The above discussion of normal pigmentation versus albinism is an example.

In next month's installment, we will talk about the dominant genes, the hybrid animal, phenotype, etc.

reputation, but only put it into its proper perspective. I know as long as Basenjis are dogs, they are apt to do some chewing as most dogs do. But Basenjis, as a breed, do not hold the title of "Champion in the art of chewing!"

CHAMPIONSHIP SHOWS IN GREAT BRITAIN (continued)

Commander Stringer. This dog was, of course, bred by Mr. Fleming and must have given him additional pleasure. The Reserve C.C. in dogs was won by Mrs. Howe's r/w BELBRAQ NICHOLAS NICKLEBY. There are no puppy classes at these early shows, since the new crop of puppies are not ready until about July. The special yearling class, however, was won by one of the twins bred by Messrs. Kennedy and Binns - LINDY LOU OF CELLADORE.

The Cheshire championship show, held in the first week in June, is another show where large entries in Basenjis are not usually received. This is partly due to the time of the year, but also to the difficulty associated with the geographical position of the venue for many exhibitors, particularly those traveling by rail. However, the entry this year of about 7 per class in the six classes ensured reasonable competition with Mr. J. Bower, another all-rounder, as the judge. FULA FALCON once more swept aside the opposition to gain the Best of Breed award. BASIL OF NIANGARA, the Leeds winner topped the Limit class (mixed for dogs and bitches) but could only gain third place in Open Dog, the second place and Reserve C.C. going to Berry's TOPFLIGHT OF SIN. The recorded results of the Open Bitch class suggest very hot competition, with one of those reversals of fortune which add interest to the dog game. Two well-known bitches occupied the second and third places - second place being Mrs. Gallagher's tri ILONA OF MOCHI, the C.C. winner at Manchester, and third to Mrs. Stringer's CH. SIREN OF HORSLEY, Best of Breed winner at the two previous championship shows. The eventual winner of the class was Mrs. Coutts' ZATOPEC ZANTY gaining her first C.C., and that of her, no doubt, excited owners. She is a well-made r/w, very well balanced. I judged her at the same show in 1967 and thought her very promising, although at that time was rather pale in coat, but since then she has been chalking up steadily some respectable wins in the junior classes. Her good construction, she no doubt, owes to her sire FULA FALCON.

There have been a number of wins of this kind this year which give the lie to the belief that to gain a major success, the exhibit must be well known or the owner of a long established kennel. I am sure that this is good for the breed and should give added encouragement to newcomers. From my own observation, I am sure that it is generally the case in this country, that a really good dog, adequately prepared, cared for and exhibited, can be made up, whatever its origins and ownership. Mrs. Stringer must have gained consolation from a good win in the mixed Limit class of her young b/w dog SIR BUNTAR OF HORSLEY.

Another comparative newcomer to the breed who has been doing well is Mrs. Butterworth. Her "ORLANDOS" Basenjis have been quietly scoring some steady successes. At this show the Novice class was headed by SIESTA OF ORLANDOS, and SKYLARK OF ORLANDOS won the Graduate class. Reserve C.C. in dogs went to TOPFLIGHT OF SIN, and in bitches to ILONA OF MOCHI.

The end of June is always an important time for Basenji exhibitors over here since it is the time for Windsor show, an extremely popular event generally for its beautiful and wonderfully sited venue underneath the noble walls of Windsor Castle, but particularly in the Basenji world for the generous classification and large entry, with the season's new puppies appearing on the scene. There was an entry this year of 104 in the eleven classes. This time there was a specialist (breeder) judge, in the person of Miss Gillian Percival of the Little Breach Basenjis.

In this event, the new puppies provided the thrills. The major one being the carrying off from the puppy dog class of the dog C.C. and Best of Breed awards by Mrs. Cardew's r/w

CURRENT CONTENDER

(Ch. Reveille Recruit x Ch. Fulaflashi of the Congo)

"FIRENZA," 7 months old, has been shown 8 times exclusively in the Puppy Class, has gone twice Best of Breed; once Best of Winners; twice Winners Bitch and three times Reserve Winners Bitch. She is handled by her breeder, Shirley A. Chambers, and is owned by Florence Kingon, Flushing, N. Y.

ST. ERME ADVENTURA AZENDA which obviously made a great impression on the judge who described him as an "Out-standing r/w of great quality, in beautiful condition." This judgement seems to have been confirmed later in the day when he won a huge variety class of no less than 86 puppies. Furthermore, he beat his famous sire FULA FALCON who had to be content with Reserve C.C. Mirrie Cardew must be on top of the world at the moment. I am sure that much of her success is due to her considerable experience of breeding and exhibiting a number of breeds apart from Basenjis. She has been most successful in Wire Fox Terriers and Chihuahuas. Another fine win was that of Mrs. Stringer's r/w SIR CLARENCE OF HORSLEY which headed the puppy, novice and graduate bitch classes and eventually gained the Reserve C.C. The bitch C.C. went to Mrs. Gallagher's tri ILONA OF MOCHI, her second.

Two important events for the Basenji Club of Great Britain take place during the next month, both in London. The most important is the specialty championship show of the club which annually attracts the largest representation of the breed. Held in the centre of London, it is to be judged this year by Miss Veronica Tudor-Williams who needs no introduction. I trust that this year Veronica will take special care to prevent the kind of unfortunate mishap which prevented her from judging this show last year. I am hoping to attend and will endeavour to supply a full report.

The week before sees the Open Show of the club held in conjunction with the Hound Championship Show at Alexandra Palace. Although there are no C.C.'s. available for Basenjis at this show, it is always well supported and attracts an entry of championship show quantity and quality. I am judging this show myself this year, and am greatly looking forward to it, particularly to the prospect of examining some of the new exhibits.

Basenji Club of New England

YANKEE DOIN'S

by Ross Dwinells, 5 James Avenue, Natick, Massachusetts

The unofficially supported entry of Basenjis at the Hockamock Kennel Club all-breed show, on June 29, 1968, at Norton, Massachusetts, was an unqualified success for the BCONE. There were 41 entries with five absentees. After several days of rain, the weather cooperated and it was a delightful day. The show grounds at Hockamock are ideal, plenty of shade trees with the added pleasantness of having every facility near the show rings. I would not hesitate to say it is the most ideal spot for an outdoor show that I have attended this year.

Mrs. Edith Nash Hellerman, the Basenji judge was very consistent in her choice of winners. Early in the judging, it was apparent that she liked the rather small, finely bred Basenji, with short backs, slender legs and deep red coats. Winners and losers alike seemed well satisfied with her judging.

For Best of Breed, Mrs. Hellerman picked the beautiful, red and white bitch CH. BETSY ROSS' CINNAMON STICK, owned by Betsy Newmann and shown by Ross. This lovely lady also won the group from an impressive group of hounds. For a time, there was high hopes of Best in Show going to her also. If this had happened, it would have topped off a perfect day. Best of Opposite Sex was won by another beautiful dark red and white dog REVELLE RECALL TO ROSE-BAY, owned by P. David Hill. Needless to say, this dog was Winners Dog and Best of Winners. Reserve Winners Dog went to Duke and Jeanette Work's KHAJAH'S GAY CALYPSO, shown by their son Michael. Michael also showed the Winners Bitch, MAKILA MOTANE MOKE. He owns MOKE and has trained the dog to perfection. Despite Mike's tender years, I foresee a long and successful career for him - breeding and showing Basenjis. Mrs. Hellerman placed the puppy bitch class winner as Reserve Winners Bitch, another dark red and white Basenji, AMBER GODDESS OF ROVIDA, owned by Diana and Davis Householder. This young bitch showed with a better than average ring sense for a puppy so young, and is a definite credit to her owner's work with her. It was a four point major in both sexes.

After the Basenji judging, the BCONE held a regular meeting, with President Richard Gilbert presiding. Some plans were made for the first BCONE Specialty to be held at the Eastern Dog Club's annual all-breed show in December, at Boston. Further planning will take place shortly, at a special director's meeting to be called by the president. A change in the club's by-laws was voted on by the membership - this consisted of changing the existing by-laws to allow young people from the ages of eight to eighteen to become junior members. Their dues will be a dollar a year and they will share in all the club's privileges except voting rights.

This action by the membership should go a long way toward getting our young people more interested in the sport of raising and showing Basenjis. I have noticed at the all-breed shows that I have attended recently that there are many more juniors using Basenjis in the junior handling classes.

In the next issue of "The Basenji" I should be able to announce who will judge the Basenjis at our Specialty next December, and also other pertinent information about it. We will look forward to seeing Basenji fanciers from all over the United States and Canada.

CONVULSIONS, COMMON CANINE CONDITION

Veterinarians frequently receive telephone calls from pet owners, who are extremely worried about sudden changes in attitude and appearance in what a short time ago was an apparently healthy pet.

The most difficult problem that arises initially is to calm the owner enough to get an accurate description of what is taking place. It is not difficult to understand the distress of this person, as very often there is good reason to worry.

The subject of convulsions, fits, or seizures, is very interesting and very often complex. Perhaps we should start with a definition of the word "convulsion," and proceed from there. According to the Blackiston's New Gould Medical Dictionary, a convulsion is an involuntary general paroxysm of muscular contraction. It is either clonic (without relaxation) or tonic (with relaxation), having alternate contractions of opposite groups of muscles. The word "paroxysm" means a sudden attack, a sudden reappearance of symptoms, or the periodic increase of crisis in the progress of a disease.

Simply stated, this means that an animal having a convulsion, will exhibit constant or alternating, uncontrollable muscle spasms which can produce anything from a mild twitching of a small group of muscles, to generalized contractions of muscles throughout the entire body. Usually the first signs of an impending convulsion are a general uneasiness, restlessness and apparent confusion. The symptoms then progress into a convulsive seizure of varying intensity, depending on what is the underlying cause.

When a pet is unfortunate enough to go into convulsions, it is essential to contact a veterinarian immediately. In order for him to track down the causative agent quickly, it is essential that you indicate the exact nature of the symptoms, and try to find out to the best of your ability if there is anything around the home that could be involved. Generally speaking, animals in convulsion are not dangerous, but the lack of ability to control muscle movements could lead to unintentional biting or scratching of the handler.

IN CASE OF POISON

If it is determined at home that some toxic agent has been eaten by the animal, attempt to induce vomiting by stimulating the gag reflex. If this does not work - warm milk can be given. Meanwhile, arrangements should have been made to bring the animal to the hospital immediately as every minute can be the margin of difference between life and death.

In cases of head injuries, it is, of course, contraindicated to induce vomiting. Quiet and gentle handling of accident cases is very beneficial to the patient while transporting him to the hospital.

Canine distemper has been discussed in detail in a previous article. One of the most serious symptoms of distemper occurs after the virus has invaded the cells of the brain which control muscle movements. At this stage in the disease, convulsions occur. They start out rather mild and infrequent, but become progressively more severe, and involve a larger area of the body. Convulsions associated with epilepsy in dogs are frequent in nature, and appear at rather constant intervals.

Fair Play

Basenji folk are much alike,
In one respect, that's true.
We love Basenjis for themselves
No matter what they do.

They chew up shoes and blankets fine,
Play tug-o-war with yours and mine.
The tablecloth is lots of fun,
Pull it off and then they run.

The sugar, cream and dishes too
Are in an awful mess.
It doesn't matter what they do,
We love them nonetheless.

They're like small folk with busy minds
Appropriating what they find.
They also will retaliate
If punished when they take the bait.

Bait it is when laid around,
They think it's something they have found.
They play with things they should not touch
And usually, they get in Dutch.

But fair is fair, we folks should say
And put expensive things away,
Then teach them not to touch the rest,
Or we will come out second best.

My name is Beau. I'm aptly named.
My progeny is justly famed.
And if I'm old, not quite so bold,
Time was when I could knock them cold.
When I came in, the ring was mine
And that's now true of all my line.
When I seem a little flip,
I back it with my old time zip.
For I am Beau and take no lip.
My teeth are worn but watch that nip!
